WAITING FOR MR. BLAINE.

STEAMERS CHARTERED AND EVERYTHING IN READINESS.

The Steamship City of New York Expected Here To-Morrow Afternoon with the Plamed Knight on Board-The Sam Slean to Carry Only Seven Hundred "Exclusives "-New England Not Very Well Represented at the Reception.

"The Republican League of the United States" announce in the advertising columns of the morning papers that they " have sepured the magnificent steamer Robert Garrett " to go down the bay at 11 o'clock tomorrow to assist in welcoming James G.

Other organizations have signified their intention of taking a hand, and, in short, the very informal" and exceedingly exclusive intentions of the New York Republican Club, at the suggestion of Mr. Blaine himself, are being disregarded by the friends and enthusiasts who have set out to shout for the Plumed Knight till 1892.

The first out-of-town delegation has arrived. It is the Young Men's Blaine Club, of Chicago. It comes 150 strong, but, owing the death of Gen. Sheridan, it did not parade, but went quietly to the Hoffman

House from the Erie Depot.

The James G. Blaine Club, of Kansas City, 120 strong, is on its way and will arrive here some time to-day.

Grand Marshal Col. Jones and several hun-

Grand Marshal Col. Jones and several hundred of his Brooklyn cohort will trail down the bay on the Garrett.

William Henry Harrison Miller and Mr. Elam, law partners of Gen. Benj. Harrison, will represent him at the reception and John Devoy will be received on Board the Sam Sloan by the Republican Club as a representative of the Irish Republican Blainites, while John D. Lawson will be permitted to go with the young men as a sole representative of the old-line politicians.

But news comes from Massachusetts of a singular apathy. At Worcester, Springfield, Hartford and other New England cities meetings of Republicans decided not to send representatives, and there will be but a slim showing from the New England strongholds of Republicanism.

of Republicanism.

The reception will be a big thing, though, especially if the City of New York should make the unprecedentedly fast trip scheduled for her.

Cappa's band will play "Hail to the Chief"
as Mr. Blaine steps on board the Sam Sloan, and President Edward T. Bartlett, of the Republican Club, will informally welcome him in a short speech.

The Sam Sloan has a carrying capacity of 1,500, but only 700 exclusives will be permitted to go down the bay on her. Among these will be Mr. Levi P. Morton, Senator

Foster will ride in an open baroughe drawn by six white horses, each led by a plumed colored man, at the head of the Republican League Division, and the whole affair will be gorgeous despite the carping of the Mugwumpian element.

Mr. Airk, the general manager of the passonger department of the Imman line, has great faith in the powers of the new steamship City of New York, and confidently expects that she will land Mr. Blaine and the

The City of New York is supposed to be the fastest of the fleet afloat, and may break all the records on her first trip. Therefore, if no accident occurs, it will not be strange if she is able to land her passengers in this city some time during the afternoon.

Manager Kirk would not be too positive in his predictions, however, and said that a his predictions, however, and said that a good deal depended on luck, which he hoped would be in the company's favor.

SAYS SHE ABDUCTED HIM.

Elsa Elias's Bald-Headed Lover Says the Girl Made Him Elope Wilty-Nilly.

And now Oscar Moeller, the bald-headed, middle-aged man who was caught on the steamship Ohio at Queenstown in company with Elsa Elias, the not over-bright bu rather pretty daughter of the late millionaire brewer, Henry Elias, whines that he is not an abductor, but was being abducted by the iddy heiress. He says that he kept a little store at Cassel while Elsa was at school there. Mrs. Elias was a frequent customer and he saw Elsa often. They became lovers, and Elsa induced him to come to America as her escort, as she wanted to see her brother, Henry Elias, of this city, regarding the settlement of her this city, regarding the settlement of her father's estate.

The Bow street police had Moeller remanded for a week. Mr. Untermeyer, the lawyer and guardian of the children, will detain Elsa with him in London till her mother arrives from Germany, Moeller must also answer for travelling on the pass of his young waiter friend, Charles Buttner.

It is given out by persons in authority here that the children of Henry Elias are Henry, Elsa, William and Kate. The father left his estate in such a manner that no more than the income may be spent. The wife accepted $70,000 in lieu of dower. Elsa's mcome is the interest on $100,000. The trustees of the estate are Edward Honitzsch, Edward Schweyer and the widow, Catherine Elias.

schweyer and the widow, Catherine Elias.
While Lawyer Untermeyer, of this city, was probating her father's will Elsa went to Mme. Albrecht's school at Cassel, where she met Moeller and fell in love with him.

Moeller's mother would not consent to a marriage and they eloped. They were captured and Moeller was arrested for abduction. Pending his trial he was liberated and the couple ran away again, going to England, where they visited a number of ministers, but each refused to marry them, as it was plain that Moeller was more than twenty-one years old and his passport was a fraud.

Finally they took passage on the steamer Ohio for America. Mr. Untermeyer had meanwhile traced them to England, and the Scotland Yard detectives were set to work. They boarded the Ohio at Queenstown and arrested the runaways, and Moeller will be tried in England for abduction. It is said that, though unmarried, Moeller already has children by two young women whom he has betrayed.

Henry Elias, of this city, Elsa's brother, declines to say anything about the affair.

He Claims that He Can Get Backing Up to $25,000. This despatch was received at the Police

Gazette office yesterday :

NANTASKET, Mass., Aug. 6 .- John L. Sullivan announces that he is ready to arrange a match with Jake Kilrain, champion of the world, for from $5,000 to $10,000 a side and the championship. He claims that Ed S. Stokes, of the Hoffman House, New York, will back him against either Kilrain or will back him against either Kilrain or Mitchell for $10,000 to $25,000 a side. Kilrain will arrive in New York Aug. 25 on the Cunard steamer Etruria.

On the arrival of the champion he will not besitate to average a match with S.

On the arrival of the champion he will not hesitate to arrange a match with Sullivan, providing the latter has posted a forfeit of $1,000 with the Clipper, and issues a bona nide challenge to fight for the above amount of stakes, the Police Gazette diamond belt and the championship of the world. Kilrain's backer will not be frightened by Sullivan proposing to fight for large stakes, and when it comes down to genuine match-making, Kilrain will hold a straight flush, consisting of the Police Gazette diamond belt, the championship, &c.

The man looked frenzied and his wife be came frightened. He had been out of work several months and had been drinking heavily. Suddenly he drew a six-barrelled loaded revolver.

"Annie," he said, "I'll kill you first and hen myself. Do you mind?"

"Wait," she said, and she pretended to walk to the hydrant, instead of which she fled out of the room. The husband fired two shots after her.

She returned half an hour later with Roundsman Arfken and Policeman Frazer, of the Fifth street station. They found the husband in bed, with the revolver in his hand. He had not yet shot himself.

He was arrested, and Justice Duffy at Essex Market to-day committed him for medical examination.

Used Tainted Water Six Weeks.

VAN WEST, O., Aug. 7.—On the 15th of June Carl Novacasskia, an inmate of the County Infirm-ary, was missed. His whereabouts were not known until yesterday, when his body was found floating in a well at that institution. The well is used by paupers for all purposes. The water has been discolored and offensive. This led yesterday morning to an investigation and the body was found.

came to Police Headquarters this morning with a lot of goods, consisting of sheets, blankets, bedspreads and silverware, which is a portion of the proceeds of robberies from the Fall River and Stonington lines of steamboats.

For nearly a year thefts have been perpetrated on these lines, and not until last night were the guilty persons discovered.

Thornton Merces, a low-sized and pretty black porter and waiter on these two lines, was discovered to be the thief, his alleged secomplice being Maud Wilson, a white woman whom he claims as his wife.

In their apartments, at 224 West Thirtieth street, Detective Vail found some elegant fur-niture packed up and marked for shipment for Boston, where Merces expected to become steward of a club-house.

In his trunk was found fully $50 worth of the stolen goods, including a number of fine suits of clothing which had adorned Mercer's person. A pawn-ticket was discovered for a gold watch, on which $30 had been loaned by a pawnbroker, and the sheets, blankets and quiits had been subjected to acids so as to remove the indelible ink marks of real proprietorship.

Mercer, when cornered, admitted his guilt, and it was shown that Maud Wilson visited him at the boats and received the plunder from him. from him.

It was packed up to be pawned, and mean time Maud had gone to Boston to await the arrival of her dusky lover, who will go to Sing Sing instead of joining his putative wife at the Hub.

LOTS OF HUMIDITY YET.

But Clouds Save Us from Being Parbelled-No Thanks to the Weather Prophet.

Although the atmospheric conditions in this locality have changed but little since yesterday, the temperature this morning was decidedly cooler. Lieut. Purssell had predicted warmer weather, and he explained the non-fulfilment of his forecast by saying that the cloudy weather had a good deal to do with it and that if the sun only had a chance the people of Gotham would be in the fryingpan again.

The humidity in the atmosphere was 95 at o'clock this morning, and almost reached the point where rainfall began. This made it uncomfortable enough for most people, although the temperature at the same hour was only 70. During the morning the degree of humidity diminished, while the temperature increased slightly.

There is a prospect of a cold wave reaching the sea coast within the next forty-eight hours. Just now it is confined to the extreme Northwestern territories, but it is gradually working its way east. The coldest temperature last night was at Minnesota, where the thermometer registered 32 degrees. temperature last hight was at Minnesota, where the thermometer registered 32 degrees. The coolest temperature at 8 o'clock this morning was at Cheyenne, 44 degrees. Other reports were as follows: Chicago, 72; St. Louis, 70; Washington, 82; Jacksonville, 82; Charlotte, N. C., 86; Galveston, 84; Montreal, 66; Eastport, Me., 54; Boston, 60; New London, 64. 82 : Charlotte, N Montreal, 66 : Ea New London, 64.

The low temperature in New England is due to the cool wave, which came from the West, north of the lake region, and is now passing off to the East.

There were heavy rains all over the country last night, the most severe being in Springfield. Mo., where 1.54 inches fell. Boston had 1.01 inches. Lieut. Purssell says that no warmer weather the cold wave, unless the wind should shift to the south, in which case the sultriness would increase.
